Dear Alysa,

Congratulations on another successful year of Citizenship Counts. Your work is more important than ever and all of us here at the American Immigration Council are grateful for the great work you are doing with young people in diverse communities.

Legal immigration has been a cornerstone of our country's growth and success and in these difficult times it is critically important that we educate future generations of the contributions of immigrants while helping them better appreciate the special privileges and responsibilities of their own citizenship. Citizenship Counts aligns so well with the work we are doing at the Immigration Council. Specifically our mission is to increase public understanding of immigration law and policy and the value of immigration to American society, while advancing fundamental fairness and due process under the law for immigrants.

We applaud the thoroughness of your curriculum and look forward to collaborating with you to reinforce the important messages for all citizens.

Kindest regards,
